

About Gilbert A. Ang'ana, PhD

Dr. Gilbert Ang'ana, a distinguished scholar and practitioner in leadership, policy, and research, is driven by a profound passion for his work. With a PhD in Organizational Leadership from Pan Africa Christian (PAC) University, Kenya, he Founded Accent Leadership Group with a mission to advocate for purposeful leadership and policy development. He aims to transform leaders, empowering them to influence beyond their positional authority. With over 15 years of experience, Dr. Ang'ana has collaborated with various organizations, enhancing leadership outcomes, team engagement, and productivity.

Dr. Ang'ana, a respected leadership advisor and consultant, is not just a practitioner but a thought leader in his field. As a Policy Leader Fellow at the European University Institute's School of Transnational Governance (EUI/STG), he is set to author a significant publication on "Collaborative Leadership: Autonomy and Mutual Dependence of the Arms of Governments in Africa." His notable research work includes "Conceptualizing and Measuring Collaborative Leadership in an Organizational Context," among nine other publications and numerous leadership articles. His insights and perspectives position him as a beacon of knowledge in the field of leadership.

His contributions to leadership practices have earned him numerous regional and global recognitions and awards. His award-winning book, Engaged & Productive, further cements his legacy in advancing leadership practices. Dr. Ang'ana also holds several key roles, including Chairman of the Kenya Faith Writers Network (KFWN), where he champions value-based authorship, and a learning facilitator in Rotary International District 9212. He is a past president of the Rotary Club of Athi River, where he has led numerous community impact initiatives.

Dr. Ang'ana is a devoted father of three and a loving husband. He enjoys travelling in nature, driving, reading, and research. For more information about his work, visit Accent Leadership Group.
